COAST RAIN IS WORTH MILLION

Gale, Heavy Storm and Just Moisture From Far North To Southern Line

The rain record for a year ago has been exceeded, for during the storm last night and early this morning .55 of an inch fell, bringing the present season up to .80 of an inch. One year ago the seasonal record was .34 of an inch.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29.—Rain falling 42 of an inch fell in Los Angeles and vicinity during the night, weather bureau officials reported today. It was southern California's second rain of the season and the moisture was reported badly needed by agriculturists.

In southern California, Pasadena received the biggest amount of moisture, registering .58 of an inch, while San Diego with .01 was lowest. San Bernardino reported .78 of an inch, Riverside .14 and Redlands .17.

The rainfall in Los Angeles brought the season's total to .63 of an inch, as was compared with .58 of an inch at this date last year. This is still below normal of .79 of an inch for the season up to October 29.

Rain Welcome Visitor to San Diego's Back Country

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 29.—Rain, San Diego's first genuine precipitation of the season, began falling shortly before 5 a. m. today and by 7 o'clock had developed into what appeared to be a steady rain for the entire day.

While reports from other sections of San Diego county were lacking early today, it was generally believed the rain was general and was welcomed by back-country ranchers as a "rain of dollars."

Steady Rainfall Continues In Northern Section

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—With rainfall already measuring more than three inches against a normal seasonal precipitation of 1.44 inches, a steady downpour continued today.

Reports from the entire northern California district indicated that the drought was effectively being ended by general rain which had reached and passed normal seasonal figures in all sections.

Livestock owners were jubilant and grain growers happy over the rain which came at a most opportune time.

Grazing this winter will be the best in four years, the livestock men believed as a result of the early continued rains.

The storm accompanying the rainfall whipped the bay into a choppy sea which made navigation difficult. A fifty-mile wind which swept up Richardson's bay caused many fine yachts anchored at Sausalito to drag anchor and one went adrift.

Four youths whose boat capsized in the bay were rescued. According to reports from the mountains, snowfall was plentiful, but in some places the warm

NEW THEATRE IS PLANNED FOR CITY

Colorado Blvd. Merchant to Erect House at Adams Corner Seating 1000

A $100,000 permit, which was taken out yesterday afternoon by M. G. Khodigian for the erection of a 1000-seat motion picture theatre adjacent to the southwest corner of Colorado boulevard and Adams street, has brought the building total for October above the three-quarters of a million mark.

The theatre will occupy a site eighty-six feet on Colorado boulevard and 200 feet on Adams street, according to the plans approved by H. C. Vandewater, municipal building superintendent, who issued the permit. There will be four stories on the main floor and eight apartments above, in addition to the theatre, and the investment, including the value of the ground and the furnishings that will be installed, will total $250,000, Mr. Khodigian states.

Operate in Bard Chain
J. H. Woodworth and Son of Pasadena are the builders, and are credited by Mr. Khodigian with financing the project and arranging a lease by which the theatre will be operated as one of a chain of picture houses run by L. L. Bard of Los Angeles. Kenneth A. Gordon, member of the building firm, was architect. The structure will be Egyptian in design, and will be completed within four months, according to J. H. Woodworth.

M. G. Khodigian came to Glendale from Los Angeles in 1918, with $70. He opened what he claims was the first place of business on Colorado boulevard from Brand boulevard to the east city limits. With his savings from a grocery and fruit business he purchased the southwest corner of Colorado boulevard and Adams street. Last year he erected a two-story brick building on the corner portion of this lot and leased the grocery store to the Sam Seelig organization. It is on the remainder of this piece of property the new theatre will go up.

The call for the organization of all former soldiers, sailors and women who served in the wars of the United States, issued yesterday over the signatures of the Rev. C. R. Norton, John D. Fraser, chief of police, and Col. James W. Everington pivoted one of the features of the political campaign. The call was reprinted in Los Angeles newspapers this morning, and has started a movement for similar crystallization of opposition to La Follette among the ex-service men and women who served in the wars of the country.

Carrying the idea further, it was announced this morning that the big parade beginning at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night will be headed by the "Spirit of 1776," consisting of the three figures in the historic painting, the drummer, the fifer and the color bearer. Rear Admiral Declines to Answer Certain Questions At Court Inquiry

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29.—Rear-Admiral Luther E. Gregory, chief of the navy bureau of docks and yards, refused to answer questions on the witness stand here today in the government's suit to cancel contracts of the E. L. Doheny interests in the Elk Hills oil reserve as to plans of the United States navy for fuel oil storage facilities.

Gregory said answers demanded by the questions would force him to reveal navy secrets. The admiral, however, did reveal that the navy has prepared a plan for submission to Congress which contemplates expenditures of $103,000,000 for building such facilities.

Gregory testified briefly regarding preparation of plans for the Pearl harbor, Hawaii, project, awarded to the Pan-American Petroleum & Telegraph Co., one of the Doheny companies, producing a map showing location of fuel oil tanks which Doheny had built for the navy, but he then refused to reply to questions from Owen Roberts, government counsel, as to the entire navy oil storage program of the navy.

For Nation's Defense

He said he was bound not to reveal the navy's war plans. When questioned further, Gregory admitted that detailed plans for fuel oil storage were prepared by the war plans board of the navy as a means of the nation's defense in time of war.

Gregory's testimony was regarded as emphasizing the extreme importance from the viewpoint of national defense of the work done by the Doheny interests in providing fuel oil storage for the navy at Pearl harbor, key to naval control of the Pacific. Cross-examination of Gregory was expected to occupy the afternoon court session.

DOPE PEDDLERS' ROUND-UP MADE

Forged Prescriptions Found To Aid Addicts Get Stuff Pharmacy Board Says

By GIL A. COWAN
For Southland News Service.
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29.—In the wake of a roundup of dope peddlers by police and federal authorities here, the State Board of Pharmacy reported the unearthing of prescription forgeries which would enable the desperate addicts to obtain the drug to keep in supply of morphine.

Harley H. Brewer, 32, arrested in Glendale by Officer White after he had obtained narcotics on a forged prescription, was identified today by the Los Angeles police as a parole violator from San Jose.

He gave the name of George Stearns when arrested last Thursday and was sent to the General Hospital by Police Judge F. H. Lowe, it was reported by C. H. Roberts, representative of the pharmacy board with offices in the Pacific Finance building.

Brewer claimed to reside at Paloma. Margaret Wilson, alias Myrtle Farris, was taken into custody yesterday and will have a hearing tomorrow on the charge of forging prescriptions at two different pharmacies, using the names of two prominent Los Angeles physicians.

Trunkfull of Dope
Prosecution was stayed in the case of a prominent young Glendale man, who also was charged with forging prescriptions on grounds that he had taken the "cure" and left the state, according to Roberts. A $50,000 supply of morphine was seized yesterday by the police narcotic squad when Sam Robinson, of Kansas City, claimed a wardrobe trunk brought here in a touring car. Over the week-end a half-dozen Chinese opium venders were arrested and their supplies seized.

Inspectors Chris Hansen and Richard Earl today are prosecuting a search for D. J. Walters, a former addict, upon whose testimony a case against Dr. Arthur R. Timme is pending in police court. Judge William Frederickson granted a postponement yesterday afternoon after hearing the story of the investigators regarding Walters' disappearance.

According to Roberts, Dr. Timme claimed Walters was an incurable tubercular who couldn't live another month. When the narcotic agents called upon Walters they found him sharing his supply of morphine with another addict. Later Walters was arrested on forged charges by the sheriff's office and sent to the county jail where he "kicked off" the habit and became so sick it was necessary to send him to the General Hospital. From there he was removed to Olive View sanitarium for tuberculars, in the San Fernando valley.

Crusade on Foot
Without narcotics recovered and three weeks ago, Earl reported, he failed to recognize Walters, the latter having gained 47 pounds. As a subpoena for Dr. Timme's trial was being issued for the witness, Walters disappeared. He also is wanted on a bad check charge.

State Board of Pharmacy keeps in constant touch with druggists and whenever addicts or irregularities appear, a checkup of prescriptions reveals the parties responsible, Roberts said. The misuse of narcotics breeds dope addicts and these addicts are preyed upon by peddlers whose traffic is proving one of the biggest problems local authorities have to combat.

A crusade now on foot proposes to ask both the California Legislature and United States Congress to tighten the laws against the use and sale of narcotics as the number of addicts, particularly among the young, is increasing at a terrific rate, according to officials.

Recent unofficial surveys have showed that one out of every 100 persons in the cities is addicted to the use of narcotics.

PRODIGAL SONS AND DAUGHTERS

Editor's Note—This is the third of a series of articles written for The Glendale Evening News by Carlos S. Hardy, judge of the superior court of Los Angeles county. The articles will show that "crime never pays." Judge Hardy's position and his study of the cases before him qualifies him to present the articles in an interesting manner. The fourth is "The Fictitious Check Writer."

3—THE WAYWARD WOMAN

By CARLOS S. HARDY
Judge of the Superior Court, Los Angeles County

The word "criminal" formerly suggested masculinity, but this is not so now. Times have so changed that women and girls are common in the criminal courts. They commit nearly all the crimes which their brothers do.

Women have always committed murder, and sometimes stolen jewelry and other property, but in these days there are women burglars and highway robbers, and women bank robbers and pickpockets, and women bootleggers and confidence men as well as confidence women. In a modern city there are nearly as many women fictitious check passers as men. When a woman descends the moral ladder, she goes to the bottom as a rule, and when she goes into crime, she goes heartily.

Lured by Drink
Of course, a woman will companion the male criminal if she has any wickedness in her, and it is common to find a man and woman operating together in crime. A young woman only 24 years old came into my court some months ago, charged with killing a man. She had been more or less wayward for some time because she could not resist the temptation to drink. As a rule, when a woman becomes a heavy drinker, she goes to the dogs generally. Alcohol destroys a woman quicker than anything, except dope. This young woman threw herself away for whisky. She was capable and attractive, but her motto in life had been to do as she pleased. She had, as a child, fought to have her way, and foolishly, her parents gave in to her, and she had her way. Woe unto the child, and the parents, too, who will have its way regardless of its advice.

Leaves Small Town
This young woman left her small town home and came to the city, where she met other girls of her own disposition and inclinations. Her parents urged her to live at the Young Woman's Christian Association hotel, but she would not. She wrote her mother that the girls at the "Y" were too "slow," and that was true, because she wanted to be out every night with a fast, drinking crowd of boys and girls, while the "Y" girls spent their evenings at home in study or with music and an occasional dinner and evening in a friend's home.

When one starts down the hill of morality, the speed ever increases, and so it was with our young lady. After a time she was unable to hold a job as stenographer. The all night parties unfitted her for work, and drink began to undermine her health. When the roses left her cheeks and she drooped as a withered flower, her companions left her, and she constantly descended. The road down hill is very steep to women.

Reaches End of Road
There is no more pitiable creature to look upon than a girl whose cheeks are sunken and face pallid from following the primrose path. Feminine pride would save every girl from sin if she could but see herself as she will surely appear after five years of dissipation.

This girl came to the end of the road before she was 24. She married foolishly at 20, but her husband neither supported nor respected her. He was worthless and useless as she was. She took up with a man who had wrecked his life with drink. And then one day the police broke into their miserable apartment and found his body lying on the floor, killed by a carving knife, and our girl, all bedraggled and benumbed and intoxicated, could give no account of what had happened.

After a few months of rest and care in jail, she came into court to answer the charge of murdering her companion, and at that time the roses were coming back into her cheeks. She did not know why she had killed him, except it was whisky that did it.

The jury was merciful and returned a verdict of manslaughter, and she is now serving a ten-year sentence in state's prison. When she comes out into the world again to begin life all over, she will be 34 years old, and every one of her years blanks. Thirty-four years of waste in woman's life is an abyss when a woman is a free possessor, and there are just two things that stand out in her life, and they are, she would not listen to nor obey her mother, and she preferred only evil companions. When a woman has these two, and she adds whiskey, she has accumulated the greatest capital for evil possible upon which to build the failure of life.

INTEREST WANING IN OIL ARGUMENT

Spectators at Elks Hill Trial Lessen as Case Proceeds; Little Excitement

By MARIAN MARSHALL
For Southland News Service.
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29.—Interest is waning in the government's suit to regain the Elk Hills naval oil reserves from E. L. Doheny, et al., as the case proceeds before Federal Judge Paul J. McCormick.

The number of spectators is below par this week, although the number of newspaper men has increased with the arrival of one or two eastern correspondents who are making first-class fiction out of the singularly few exciting incidents.

Although Owen J. Roberts and Frank Hogan, leaders of the opposing counsel, indulge in a bit of badinage, the trial is proving serious to Mr. Doheny, who refuses to smile and never laughs. Mr. Doheny has not as yet displayed the baseball for which he paid $500 at Sunday's benefit game. That act may be used for publicity by George G. Hill, former newspaper man, who is making himself useful to the defense attorneys by grinding out an 800-word story of the trial each day which he respectfully submits to newspapers as an account of the proceedings. There is said to be one or two Los Angeles newspapers which give his contributions consideration.

Hogan's Speech
Mr. Hill is eagerly awaiting Mr. Hogan's opening speech, it would appear, when his client will be placed in a different light. News-papers agree that something interesting should be done to make more interesting reading for the public. Otherwise Judge McCormick and those paid to sit out the trial will be the sole spectators.

Former Secretary of the Navy Joseph Daniels, who may yet be called as a witness, left last week-end on a speaking tour of the west. Former Secretary of the Navy Denby is getting an earful of evidence regarding his former fellow cabinet member, Albert B. Fall. The trial is but an echo of the Walsh investigation committee causing sensations which failed to feaze Calvin Coolidge as he took the reins of government. If Mr. Roberts and Mr. Hogan would come to blows—that would be news!

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, Oct. 29.—Plans are already under way for a big New Year's eve celebration in this city, with prizes totaling $100 to be given for the most distinctive costumes. The party will be held at the Garden hall, Benmar Hills, and is sponsored by leading residents.

Tomorrow night the Burbank Choral club will hold a Halloween party at the Garden hall, starting at 8 o'clock. The invitations bear the following rhyme: "Wear a clever costume, it may win you a prize; And be sure to mask—at least cover your eyes."

The Ladies' Aid society of the Presbyterian church will hold its annual birthday social at the church, Thursday afternoon, October 30, beginning at 2 o'clock. A good program is being arranged, in charge of Mrs. Blanchard and Mrs. McGuire.

This meeting is not only for the members of the society, but for every woman in the congregation, it is announced, and accordingly everyone is extended an invitation to be present. E. A. Gartha, efficiency expert for a well-known Detroit car factory, who has been looking after business in and about Los Angeles for the past ten days, left recently for San Francisco. While engaged in his work in this vicinity, Mr. Gartha and wife have been making their headquarters at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Bradley of 320 Magnolia avenue. Mrs. Gartha is a niece of Mrs. Bradley.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Roth, who have been spending some time visiting in Boonville, Ind., have left for their home here according to word received by friends.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

If you follow the market news you will note that Judge Elbert Gary yesterday is quoted as having expressed the following thought: "Purchasing power and disposition of the purchasing public are strong and vigorous and will, in the near future, materially increase."

You merchants and builders of Glendale have assurances of more business in that statement. You have every reason to be confident. You will have a most prosperous New Year. And yet you may wonder where the new blood, where the people who are to populate Southern California are coming from.

To answer "everywhere," is but a glittering generality. This writer has occasion to mix with the crowds of Los Angeles. Two strangers on a street car, both visibly well to do. Casual comment led to conversation between them.

"I am a Montreal man," said the one carrying a silver headed cane. "Why, so am I," the other responded. The one had arrived three days ago. He was looking about for a home. The other had arrived three weeks ago and already had purchased a drug store and a home.

Railroads are making unusual arrangements to accommodate the great influx of tourists and settlers this year. They will be bringing thousands from the east daily in another month.

The real question for Glendale people to worry over is not, "Where are they coming from?" but "Are we ready to receive them?"

President Coolidge has again done the unusual. At this early date he has expressed confidence in his election. That lets the political writers out. They cannot tell him anything, as it were. He is making personal arrangements for another four years in the White House. The president's decided opinion of his own chances may cost him votes, but chances are his confidence will do much to swell the tide of a landslide. There's nothing like being sold on yourself.

Welcome rains visited the southland over night. The power short age may be considered at an end. But Southern California doesn't want to risk further disfavor by the elements. Cities of this fast populating area should heed the advice of engineers and prosecute the Colorado river project. It will provide power, domestic water and irrigation for the empire if harnessed.

The visit of Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, will today give opportunity to the developers to indirectly convey word to the world that the Boulder canyon dam must be built. It is not a dream, but a definite plan; it is not a football for the power trust or land owners below the Mexican border, but a demand on the part of the public whose very existence, whose future, whose permanent prosperity must be protected by the federal government.

CORONA, Oct. 29.—"Honey, I wouldn't take a million dollars for you," whispered a blushing beau as Judge Stahl prepared for a midnight marriage. He had been summoned from bed. After the ceremony, the bridegroom asked the fee and the judge said hopefully, "What it's worth," thinking of the million dollar remark. He got a $2 bill. Now you tell one!

Oldtime Stage Player In 'Turn to the Right'

"Turn to the Right" the comedy which the Dobinson Players is presenting this week at the club playhouse, has in its cast many prominent people of the stage, foremost of whom is George Woodthorpe, who, in the role of the mother captivates her audience. Miss Woodthorpe, who is well known, both for her work on the dramatic stage as well as in films, will be remembered by older theatregoers as an actress who ranked high in big productions with famous players, having played Ophelia to Edwin Booth's Hamlet.

When "Turn to the Right" was written, Miss Woodthorpe was cast for the original company, but owing to a previous engagement, could not accept.

When the Dobinson Players decided to produce "Turn to the Right" it was decided to secure Miss Woodthorpe, who, in order to accept this engagement had to refuse one in the film world. Miss Woodthorpe is a resident of Glendale, where her friends are legion, and groups of professionals are planning parties to see her in this play. Another featured player is William H. Stephens, who has returned from a two years' engagement with Walter Hampden in New York.

CHARTER DAY PLANNED NOV. 11

Tuesday Afternoon Club to Observe Annual Event; Honor Members

The Tuesday Afternoon club is to have a birthday party, Tuesday, November 11, when the annual "Charter Day" will be observed, the charter members being specially honored at the luncheon preceding the afternoon meeting and program. Announcement of this annual event was made at the club gathering yesterday.

Increased interest in the club year just beginning was evident in the meetings at the clubhouse yesterday. A large company of members and guests was present for the luncheon.

Honored guests and speakers were Benjamin C. Brown, California artist, who spoke to the fine arts department in the morning, and whose pictures are on exhibit at the clubhouse at present; Mrs. Maynard Force Thayer, state chairman of American citizenship, who made a plea to "Make the ideals of the home of America the ideals of America"; Mrs. Lucille Stephenson, district chairman of circulation, and Mrs. Leland Atherton Irish, former district press chairman, who had on display a press clipping book, made during the recent biennial in Los Angeles, containing over 27,000 inches of free publicity, worth $90,854.40 if paid for by the inch, to be sent to Washington, D. C. for keeping.

President Presides

Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, club president, presided over the luncheon and the afternoon meeting. Under the direction of Mrs. J. H. Toal, the auditorium stage was arranged with baskets of beautiful dahlias for the club meeting and program. Reports of various kinds were given. An outstanding feature was the ardent plea for the clubwomen who are registered to vote November 4.

Announcement was made that on Tuesday, November 4, the Bible department will meet at 8 o'clock. The public is invited to attend. Following the meeting tea will be served. Miss Winifred Rouzee, instructor, is to begin the study of Genesis. Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson spoke on the civic center.

Yesterday she played "Forest Brooklet" (Fritz Spindler), "Waltz in a Flat" (Brahms) and "In a Garden" (Schuetz). Mrs. Hopkins is an artist of rare ability, and yesterday her playing was most delightful.

Community Chest Hear Of War Mothers' Work

A letter just received by the Glendale Community Chest from Mrs. Cowlin, president of the American War Mothers, gives some interesting details on the work of her organization. "The National American War Mothers," writes Mrs. Cowlin, "was organized for service during the World War in 1917, by Mrs. Alice M. French of Indianapolis, at the request of ex-President Woodrow Wilson. At the close of the war, realizing the increasing need of such service in the years to come, it was made a permanent organization."

"Although our work is varied, having committees on Americanization, flag code and better films, our principal endeavor is along the line of relief and hospital work among ex-service men and women; especially the disabled and unfortunate. At the present time we have as a ward of the Glendale chapter a young man who was in the regular army at the time this country entered the war, and, therefore, he was among the first to be sent overseas, serving in some of the worst battles. He is now confined in one of the government hospitals with tuberculosis, and is receiving the princely compensation of $5.70 per month. The help we extend him is in furnishing clothes."

The National American War Mothers has been allowed the sum of $300 in the Glendale Community Chest budget for 1924.

Power Pole Has Fourth Of July Fire Display

A vivid electrical display flashed in the top of a power pole at San Fernando road and Los Angeles street for nearly an hour this morning and was finally extinguished at 4:30 o'clock by Station 2 of the Glendale fire department, assisted by a "trouble shooter" from the municipal light department. The damage confined itself to the pole and wires. Captain George Meyer reported. It is believed a short circuit was caused by the rain.

Tulle, deputy Pharaoh; Irving Mitchell, president of the Masonic club, Los Angeles, and Charles Emory Wright, Toparch elect, Los Angeles Pyramid No. 30, are the visiting Sciots who will assist in the installation service.

Miss Clare Payne, soprano, will appear with a corps of musicians from her Hollywood studio in a musical program. Silvan Bell, granddaughter of an ancient Mormon who accompanied Brigham Young to Salt Lake in 1848, will entertain the Pyramid and visitors. Other noted stars of song, dance and reading will be present and add their part to the program.

Halloween Party

Following the ritualistic work the company will retire to the banquet room where a Halloween party will be held. Decorations will be in keeping with Halloween. The band will play under the direction of Sciots Osterman. The Pyramid will deviate from the usual custom, and will have a stag party.

The past year has noted a phenomenal growth, the membership having more than doubled and the manifest interest of the Masonic brothers has made it clear that the Masonic Temple will be filled to capacity.

The program was arranged by the passing Toparch, who will carry the sceptre and wield the gavel during its execution. The gathering tonight will be the closing chapter of the 1923-1924 year book of the order and the Pyramid extends an open invitation to all Master Masons to attend.

Daily Greeting To News Readers

YOU CANNOT MAKE—

A sound government out of mock patriotism.
A good church member out of a quarrelsome saint.
A good reputation and be indifferent to public opinion.
A happy home out of moral bankrupts.
Young people sensible without a few good parental patterns.
A good book out of a beautiful binding.
Any argument appear reasonable to a prejudiced man.

AMERICAN SUPREMACY

"These Eventful Years," a collection of eighty-four essays recently published, describing the twentieth century in the making, brings forward an idea that is of interest to the whole world, that is, the growing influence of the United States and the thought that America will eventually have to assume world leadership. The essays are written by men on both sides of the Atlantic, and, while many of them have no direct relation to this topic, the idea runs all through the two volumes. Some grudgingly admit the fact of American supremacy, others glory in it.

The contributions of two Englishmen, H. G. Wells, author and historian, and J. L. Garvin, editor of the London Observer, are almost startling. Mr. Wells has reversed his opinion of the League of Nations. He now condemns it as blocking the way to something better. The only hope he sees is in a new world. He says, "There may be very grave social and economic struggles before these new populations, but one does not see there vast armies, nearly exhausted resources, education decaying and swarming masses of urban unemployed. One does see vast areas of country, with enormous undeveloped wealth, the prospect for a long time of plentiful food and reasonable security for life, growth and creative effort. A growing artistic and scientific impulse appears, particularly in the United States of America. Within fifty years America may be leading the world in art, science and literature. Before another half century North and South America may be the recognized heads and centers of the English-speaking and Spanish-speaking civilizations. It is a disagreeable thing for an English writer with patriotic prepossessions to face the possibility of his motherland sinking to a secondary place in a reconstituted world, but it has to be admitted that the trend of the facts points all in that direction."

Mr. Garvin says, "The present League of Nations is not the sufficient effort, but the general movement against war is only beginning. It is the movement of the century. That America's aid by some path will yet march with this spirit or lead it we have considered reason to believe."

ATTACKS AMERICANISM

An editorial writer in a monthly magazine sees a menace to our language in the tendency of the modern "go-getter" who has taken possession of the publicity field to abbreviate and pervert words so that it is almost necessary for the average American to learn a new language. He is affronted because "vodvil" is given in certain theatres, that the sign in front of certain restaurants reads "eats," that the picturesque frankfurter has become a "dog" and that real estate dealers are no longer content to be known as such, but must be called "real-tors." Of course he is quoting some facetious person when he says we have acquired a new "slanguage."

He attributes this perversion of the language, rightly, to our desire for haste. We do not read aloud any more. We listen in, and have no time for thought and contemplation, much less serious study. We boast that our colloquialisms are becoming a part of our written literature, and that we have books written "in American."

Good literature is worthy of this writer's defense. It is a pity we do not take the time to read more. And a good thought deserves to be clothed in words that express it precisely. But there is not much to worry about in the situation. We are adapting and shortening and coining words where there seems to be a call for it, and if our colloquialisms answer a need, why should they not be inserted in our dictionary and used in our literature? We have no defense to make for "eats" and "dogs" and the like, but some of the old words are crude and vulgar, too. The language is always changing. We couldn't write a history of the World War or tell of the circumnavigation of the globe if we had no words save those used by Chaucer. It is almost imperative that new words be coined in every generation, and that we make abbreviations and adaptations to suit our needs.

THE PRACTICAL IN POLITICS

A man well known for his idealistic sentiments and his extreme principles recently announced to his friends that he intended to align himself with the Republican party this year, much to their surprise. Asked for his reasons he replied that since he has a family to support he cannot afford to ignore the effect that the election may have upon his pocketbook. In other words, he said he dared not take a chance. This man is far from being conservative, he is forward-looking beyond his time, he acknowledges that he would be interested in observing certain experiments in government that have been suggested, he has the highest regard for the third party candidates.

Is this man selfish in thinking of his pocket-book? Is he wrong in wishing to protect his family from any hardships that might result from a radical change in the manner of conducting the affairs of our government?

Money is not all, to be sure, and yet business is the life-blood of the country. When business is poor there is unemployment and suffering and the higher things of life, religion, education, art and so forth receive little stimulus where discouragement is rife. It is not selfish to be practical where so much is at stake.

COOLIDGE OR CONFUSION

Some may think that the campaign cry of "Coolidge or chaos" is merely a phrase, but it is not so. It is agreed that unless Coolidge is elected November 4 none of the three candidates will have secured a majority of the votes and the election will be thrown into Congress. In such a contingency it is more than probable that no one will be chosen for some time, as a deadlock in Congress is almost certain. During this time every business decision, large and small, will be held in abeyance pending the selection of a president. Many business establishments will collapse and entire communities that depend upon industries will face ruin.

Nothing quite satisfies an undertaker like two right angle turns with a grade crossing between.

We don't know that thin folks live longer than fat folks, it probably just seems longer.

SPEAKING OF HALLOWEEN STUNTS!

The Third Party

By DR. FRANK CRANE

A third party has never been successful in the United States. Its influence, however, has been considerable.

A record of some of the third parties that have flourished previously and have appeared and disappeared at various times in American history, has been given by a recent writer and is interesting.

"The Anti-Renters were a New York organization which flourished about 1841. They resisted the collection of back rents on the Van Rensselaer manor near Albany. They had strength enough to defeat Wright, the regular Democratic candidate for governor of New York.

"The Barn-burners, New York, 1846, were seceders from the Democratic party. They were opposed to slavery extension. The Bucktails were another New York party and supported Madison for the presidency.

"The Conservatives, in New York and several other states, were paper money Democrats in their prime in 1837. To the Doughfaces belonged the northern members of Congress who voted for the Missouri Compromise.

"The Know-Nothings, New York, 1854, were opposed to the naturalization of foreigners who had not lived at least twenty-one years in the United States.

"The Loco-Focos, New York, 1855, were a branch of the Democratic party.

"The Liberal Republicans, 1872, were those who joined with the Democrats in support of Greeley for president."

Roosevelt headed a third party, but was unsuccessful.

Just what will be the result of the La Follette third party, which appeals to the discontent of the great middle west, is yet to be seen.

Making Presidents

By H. Irving King

IN 1908

In 1908 the Republican convention, meeting in Chicago in June, nominated for President William H. Taft of Ohio, a lawyer, who had held many legal and judicial state offices, been professor of law and dean in the University of Cincinnati, United States circuit judge, president of the Philippine commission, civil governor of the Philippines and secretary of war; and who was a close friend and adviser of President Roosevelt, who desired him as his successor. James S. Sherman of New York, who had been ten times elected to Congress from his district and was chairman of the Republican National Congressional committee, was nominated for vice-president. In July the Democrats in convention at Denver, made William J. Bryan their standard bearer for a third time. John W. Kern of Indiana was nominated for vice-president. The Socialists put up the same ticket as four years before—Debs and Hanford. The Prohibitionists nominated Eugene W. Chafin of Illinois for president and Aaron S. Watkins of Ohio for vice-president. Thomas E. Watson of Georgia again headed the Populist, or People's Party ticket, with Samuel Williams of Indiana as his running mate. An Independent Labor party was in the field, with Thomas Higen of Massachusetts as its nominee for president and John Temple Graves of Georgia its candidate for vice-president. The Socialist-Labor party nominated August Gillhaus of New York and Donald L. Monroe of Virginia; and the United Christian party the Rev. Daniel B. Turney of Illinois and L. S. Chiffin of Iowa. The number of states had now grown to forty-six and the number of electoral votes to 483. When Washington was elected to his first term, the number of states voting was ten—Rhode Island and North Carolina not having ratified the constitution and New York having neglected to choose electors—and the total electoral vote was sixty-nine. In the Taft-Bryan campaign only the minor and more radical parties made free silver an article of faith in their platforms; a remarkable change from the days of 1896, when Bryan, running on a free silver platform, had carried every state west of the Mississippi except California and North Dakota, and every state south of the Ohio and the Potomac, except West Virginia and Kentucky. The election resulted as follows: Popular vote—Taft, 7,678,908; Bryan, 6,400,104; Debs, 420,733; Chafin, 253,840; Higen, 82,872; Watson, 29,100; Gillhaus, 13,825. It will be noticed that in this election Bryan polled 93,821 less popular votes than he did in 1896 and nearly 51,000 more than he did in 1900. Of electoral votes Taft received 321 and Bryan 162.

Horoscope

Mingled good and evil may be expected from this day's planetary direction, according to astrology. Although Uranus, the Sun, Mercury and Venus are all in benefic aspect, Mars and Neptune are strongly adverse.

There is again the sign read as indicating deep interest in the army and navy with many changes and reinforcements.

Diplomacy will be put to the test before much time has passed, for there is again a sign read as presaging international complications.

Peace will appear in places on the globe that have been long disturbed, but there will be outbreaks of war in other places.

Treachery on the part of a foreign power, long prophesied may be discovered before the new year.

Mental activity of the most intense sort will be general under this way of the stars, which indicates some cause for national excitement.

The seers declare that Americans are blind to world conditions and care-free when they should be assuming responsibility in international affairs.

Once more the tide of romance and sentiment is rising and it forecasts drama affecting all the people.

Both men and women may be exceedingly foolish in their social outlook at this time when the stars affect the commonsense side of the brain.

Divorces will continue to multiply and there will be even more contempt than formerly for the sanctity of marriage.

Theatres and places of amusement will prosper greatly all through the season which is to bring great changes in plays.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of success in whatever they undertake in the coming year. The young will court and marry.

Children born on this day will be fond of company and able to enjoy the good things of life, while they prosper in their work. These subjects of Scorpio are usually exceedingly neat and very fond of dress.

Today's Poem

LINES
(Book 1: 25)
Swains in numbers
Break your slumbers,
Saucy Lydia, now but seldom,
Ay, though at your casement
nighly.
Tapping loudly, tapping lightly,
By the dozens once ye held them.

Ever turning,
Night and morning,
Swing your door upon its hinges;
Now, from dawn till evening's closing,
Lone and desolate reposing,
Not a soul its rest infringes.

Serenaders,
Sweet invaders,
Scatter glow, and daily scatter,
Singing: "Lydia, art thou sleeping?"
Lonely watch thy love is keeping!

Wake, O, wake, thou dear enchanter!

Lorn and faded,
You, as they did,
Woe, and in your turn are slight-
ed;

Worn and torn by passion's fret,
You, the pitiless coquette,
Waste by fires yourself have lighted.

Late relenting,
Left lamenting—
"Withered leaves strew wintry brooks!"

Ivy garlands greenly darkling,
Myrtles brown with dew-drops
sparkling,
Best become youth's glowing looks!"
—Horace Quintus Flaccus.

AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, Oct. 29.—Tears flowed freely at the La Crescenta school yesterday afternoon when the children discovered that the dog catcher had loaded up the stray pets of the valley. This action was taken in accordance with a county ordinance passed in December 1923, which says that dogs roaming free or at large in public places, on roads, highways, or uninclosed lots or premises must be immunized against rabies and wear a metal tag issued by the Los Angeles County Health department, indicating immunization. Notices to this effect are posted in the different sections of the valley by the order of Dr. Pomerooy. Dr. E. N. Nettleton has been kept busy answering requests of children who want to keep their pets from the county quarantine station.

Women's club of La Crescenta valley will give a Halloween jinks party at the La Crescenta school house bridge tomorrow night. Five hundred and mah jongg will be played. There will be dancing. Doughnuts, cider, apples and homemade pumpkin pies will be served. The feature attraction will be the fortune-telling booth presided over by Saadi who will bring with her two royal slaves and forecast the future with the Tarot cards and horoscopes. Admission will be 50 cents. Proceeds will go to the building fund for the new club house. Mesdames E. Sullivan, A. Aiken and Lee Merritt are in charge of the affair.

School intersections have been marked off on Los Angeles boulevard under the supervision of Captain F. H. Cannon of the Los Angeles Motor Traffic squad. Motorists are asked to slow up when approaching the school.

Members of the Aeolian Music club were guests of Miss Elizabeth Mottern at her Adams street home in Glendale at a Halloween costume party. These present were: Miss Marguerita Hauber, president and originator of the club, Miss Marion Keith, Dorothy Potter, Mildred and Henrietta Biesner, Mr. and Mrs. Schofield Keppel, Alton Rathburn and Constance Angier.

Members of the Sunday school of St. Luke's of the Mountains will give a Halloween costume party tomorrow night in the guild room of the new church at the corner of Rosemont and Michigan avenues. The affair which will be in charge of Deaconess Grebe of the Diocese of Los Angeles. Children will be entertained from 3:30 to 5 p. m. Refreshments will be served.

Women of the La Crescenta Community church, Montrose avenue, are the recipients of a new gas range the gift of the brotherhood of the church. According to present plans L. O. F. of the La Crescenta valley will hold their institution, December 1, in the Fowler building in Verdugo City. It is expected about 150 guests will be present. Local Odd Fellows will provide a suitable banquet. At present the weekly meetings are held in the Fowler Chevrolet agency on the southeast side of Honolulu avenue off Los Angeles avenue.

MONTROSE NOTES

MONTROSE, Oct. 29.—A special treat is in store for patrons of the Montrose theatre tomorrow and Friday evenings, when Manager Doyle of the theatre has arranged to show "Wanderers of the Wasteland," said to be the most beautiful color picture made to date. With this attraction will be shown the Universal News reel and a Paramount comedy. Crowds pack this popular picture house every evening, coming from Tujunga, Sunland, La Canada and Flintridge.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bates entertained the Young People's league of the Montrose Methodist Community church with a Halloween masquerade party at their home on East Altura street. Among those in costume were Miss Glean Lewis, as the harem girl; Leonora Lewis, as child; Betty Bacchus; Mrs. Ida Templeman, as a sailor; Mary Verna; Ellen Swan, Thelma Bates, Clay D. Key and Cecil Logsdon, as sailors; John Kelly, as Buster Brown; Earl Key and Billy Classen, as flappers; while the most distinctive costume was that worn by Lester Thompson, who appeared as a bright green frog. Cattle Shipments From Missouri Hit $470,333

TARKIO, Mo., Oct. 29.—The 200 carloads of cattle which have been shipped from "2s feeding center" so far this month were valued at $470,333.

A close friend of the family has written the following:
"Mrs. Strong leaves her husband, H. A. Strong, a son, William; a daughter, Marjorie; two sisters, Mrs. J. R. Mitchell of Berkeley, and also many other relatives and friends, who will sadly miss her, and who join with the family in their sorrow.

"Mrs. Strong was born in Magnolia, Putnam county, Ill., April 20, 1875, and was the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Morrill. When a young girl, she moved to Worthington, Minn., with her parents, and shortly after to Sheldon, Ia. There she grew to womanhood, and formed a large group of friends. On June 17, 1896, she was married to Harmon A. Strong, whose father was a pioneer in Sheldon.

"For many years Mrs. Strong came to Southern California to spend the winters. In 1915 the family moved to Glendale, where the sister, Mrs. Mitchell, was already making her home. Mrs. Strong loved the beauties of nature, the flowers and sunshine of Southern California. Through her influence, a number of friends and relatives came to make their homes in this community.

"Her every thought was for her family and her friends. Her home was always thrown open in hospitality, and many were the evenings when the large front room was filled with friends and relatives, who had just dropped in, attracted by the cheery hospitality of the home. These all feel an irreparable loss in the passing of Mrs. Strong. Her unselfish devotion to her family and her constant efforts to do something to add to the comfort and pleasure of her friends won for her a place in the hearts of all, which can never be filled.

"Mrs. Strong was affiliated with the Glendale chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

"A number of relatives and friends are coming from the East to attend the funeral. To all it seems impossible that one who was so alive, so interested in everything that went on, so unselfish and winsome should be called to the heavenly home, while yet a young woman. But they bow their heads and say 'Thy will be done.'

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

ANSWERS TO MOTHERS

Teething and Feeding

Mrs. J.—You should not attribute your baby's troubles to teething until everything else is ruled out, because teething is a natural process and a child is teething from five months until he is 15 years old. (We might say that he is 17 to 25, when he gets his wisdom teeth.) However, normal teething may cause restlessness and even a slight fever and loss of appetite. If he is breast fed give him a little water to drink before nursing. If he is bottle fed, dilute his formula a little. Put about one-quarter more quantity of water in. Rubbing the gums with the clean handle of a spoon, sometimes seems to relieve them. It is very rarely that the gums have to be lanced.

How about your diet? Are you getting the proper foods so that your milk has the teeth and body building elements for the baby? At least one quart of milk a day (this can be taken in cream soups, custards, puddings, etc.), some cottage cheese, or cream cheese, nuts, whole grain bread, and cereals, liberal amounts of vegetables, especially greens (two good salads a day), and fruits. Did you begin at two or three months to give the baby a bottle instead of nursing? That is a wise thing to do because it accustoms the baby to the bottle, so if he weans him suddenly, it will not be so difficult.

At the sixth month, you can begin to give cereal feedings. Some pediatricians (children specialists) advise beginning cereals and strained vegetables as early as the fifth month. Certainly you should begin by the sixth. The principle of adding new foods to baby's diet is to begin in very small amounts and increase very gradually so that his digestive powers, which are latent, will gradually develop and will not be overtaxed.

The following are the schedules for the feeding during the sixth and seventh months:

Sixth Month
6 a. m.—Nursing (or bottle if not breast fed).
9 a. m.—Orange juice, two tablespoons. (Begin one half teaspoonful in water and gradually increase.)

10 a. m.—Breast or bottle preceded by strained cereal. Begin cereals one-half level teaspoonful, increase same amount every other day until about two level tablespoons. (Give from spoon, not mixed with the milk.) The cereals can be cooked in milk.

2 p. m.—Nursing or bottle.

6 p. m.—Cereal, same amount as getting at 10 a. m., following by nursing or bottle.

10 p. m.—Nursing or bottle.

Seventh Month
6 a. m.—Nursing or bottle.

9 a. m.—Orange juice (up to two or three tablespoons).

10 a. m.—Breast or bottle, preceded by strained cereal, three or four level tablespoons. Can put a little of formula on it or a little milk.

2 p. m.—Nursing or bottle. Vegetable or beef juice minus all fat. Begin, teaspoonful diluted. Increase one teaspoonful every other day to two tablespoons.

Piece of dry toast to nibble on before nursing or bottle. Can put a little in the broth also.

6 p. m.—Cereal, same amount as getting at 10 a. m., followed by nursing or bottle.

10 p. m.—Nursing or bottle.

Next week I will give table of feeding for the eighth month and weaning.

To make a slip-over sweater with long sleeves, for a child from one and a half to two years old, buy six balls of white four-fold Saxony, one pair of size three bone or celluloid knitting needles, and one pair of size one bone or celluloid needles.
Back: Using the size 3 needles, cast on 62 stitches and knit plain for 13 inches. Knit on 20 stitches.

bind off 22 stitches, and start front on 20.

Front: Knit four ribs even and cast on at front six stitches three times. Knit 30 ribs even and then leave these stitches on a spare needle. Make the other shoulder to correspond. Then work all across till front is same length as back, and bind off. (This front has a slit at neck, in the middle, which when unbuttoned would make a V neck.) Below this slit the front is plain, just like the back.

Sleeves: Cast on 35 stitches, increase one stitch at beginning of row at one end only 14 times, knit 35 even ribs, decrease for other side and then bind off. (This sleeve and sew up under arm.)

Cuffs: Using the size 1 needles, pick up one stitch in each rib, knit four inches, bind off and turn cuff back.

Collar: Using the smaller needles, again, pick up stitches from wrong side around neck, knit four inches plain and bind off. Work four button loops on right side of front slit and place four buttons on left side. This completes the little sweater. It is most effective when the extreme lower edge is turned up an inch or two.

Afghan Stitch (requested by "Young Reader"): Work a chain the length you wish the finished afghan to be. (Use a very long crochet hook.) Turn, draw a loop through second chain from hook and retain on hook; repeat all across. This is only one-half of the afghan stitch, which requires working across and back to form one row. To make the other half, yarn over hook and through one loop, yarn over hook and through two loops, repeat from all across, the loop left on hook being the first loop of the next row. In this row the loops are drawn through the verticals of the previous row. When the afghan is finished (that is, make the desired length, using this stitch) finish with a row of single crochet drawn through the verticals.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman, in care of the "Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

Costume Affair

One of the most enjoyable Halloween parties of the season was the one given last night by the Girl's Friendly society of St. Mark's Episcopal church in the Guild hall. The affair was also in the form of a membership drive, each member having the privilege of inviting a guest, who might later join the society. The hall was decorated with orange and black crepe paper, cornstalks, and Jack o'lanterns.

On arriving at the hall, the guests were met at the door by two ghosts, who ushered them to the dressing room. In one corner of the hall was a witch stirring her cauldron which hung over a fire. The witch drew forth from the cauldron fortunes which she handed out to the company. The party was a masquerade affair and many clever costumes were worn. The young women formed in the grand march around the room, each one appearing before the three judges: Mrs. P. E. Cory, Mrs. J. T. Crampton and Mrs. Annette Powers for a decision as to the best costume.

The best costume was Miss Andrey Manifold, who wore a Halloween ballet girl costume won the prize. She was given four slips of paper on which poetry had been written directing her where she would find the prize. Finally the last slip of paper directed her to the correct place to find the prize, a box of candy.

Many guessing games were played for which prizes were awarded. A Virginia reel was another feature of the entertainment and later the guests were seated at three large tables, where a two-course lunch was served.

The tables were attractively decorated with bouquets of marigold. The guests found their places by unique doll favors made by Miss Thelma Johnson. The committee in charge of the party was Misses Beena Jensen, Thelma Johnson, Georgia Campbell, Marie Powers, Margaret Campbell and Elizabeth Stevens. The meeting next Monday night will be a business session.

Honor Teachers

Hobgoblins and witches will mingle with parents and teachers of the Glendale Intermediate school tomorrow night, when the Parent-Teacher association entertains with an old-fashioned Halloween party honoring the teachers. All patrons of the school are invited to attend. Mrs. Mae Rosenberg, president of the P-T, announces that it is to be a jolly get-acquainted affair. Several special guests are expected.

Mrs. E. B. Moore, chairman of decorations, is working out an elaborate scheme for keeping with the Halloween spirit. Mrs. M. A. Heasley, chairman of program, assisted by Mrs. Frank Arnold, has engaged R. Ernest Tucker to lead in community singing, and Mrs. Tucker to give readings. Mrs. L. A. Packard and her courtesy committee state that they have a big surprise for the refreshment hour. The affair will be held in the cafeteria and will be informal.

Club Has Dinner

Members of the Business and Professional Women's club were entertained last night by Mrs. Allie Anderson-Roberts, at the Golden West sanitarium, 110 East Windsor road. The dining room was artistically decorated in keeping with the occasion of Halloween, orange and black crepe paper being hung from the chandeliers and lighted Jack o'lanterns being features. Unique Halloween place cards marked the places at the table. During the dinner, Kelly's Shrine club orchestra played. Mrs. C. M. Carroll sang several solos. Dancing and old fashioned games were greatly enjoyed. Several interesting games were played and prizes awarded to Dr. Laura Brown, Miss Anna Hyslop and Mrs. Ella Richardson. The next meeting of the club will be held November 11 at the home of Mrs. Josephine Woolsey, 342 West Maple street.

Rebekahs Mask

Carnation Rebekah Lodge members held their Halloween dance at the I. O. O. F. hall last night. Many clever costumes were worn. The first prizes went to Mrs. Joseph Whitlow and Will Siemsen, and the second prizes to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hollenbeck. Mrs. Whitlow, winner of the first prize wore a Colonial dress and a devil's suit. Punch and water were served during the evening. The meeting of the lodge will be held Tuesday night, followed by a five-hundred card party.

Shower Honoree

The home of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Tronsier 350 West Maple avenue was the scene of a magnificent shower given last night to complement Mrs. Lester McCoy (nee Miss Donna Wilson) whose marriage took place two weeks ago. White chrysanthemums and roses and potted plants decorated the living and dining room. A shower bouquet of flowers with white streamers hung from the dome over the dining table, the streamers of ribbon being fastened to the edge of the table with flowers, forming a canopy where the gifts were placed. A large cedar chest, a gift from her mother, Mrs. Roberta Wilson, was placed on a side table, filled with gifts. The party last night was a surprise as well as a shower, the bride being sent for after the guests had assembled. After the packages had been opened and admired, Mrs. Donald McGill entertained with readings and Mrs. W. H. Robinson gave piano selections. Mrs. McCoy, who has a sweet voice sang "The Perfect Day" and other selections. The shower was given by members of the Pacific Avenue Methodist church, twenty-five being present. Home made cake and chocolate were served later.

Informal Evening

Mr. and Mrs. G. Edwin Murphy of 421 North Brand boulevard were hosts Monday night at a brilliant costume party for the dramatic club of the Emerson School of Self-Expression. ## ALHAMBRA LOOKS EASY TO LOCALS

Lightweights Tackle Moors Tomorrow; Regulars to Play Home Friday

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.
Of The Evening News Staff.

Tomorrow's lightweight game at Alhambra between the Dyna-meters and the Moors should mean another shutout for the locals. The 130-pound players last week trimmed Monrovia 21-0. On the first day on the lightweight schedule the Wildcats battled the Moors to a 0-0 tie. The locals were able to put the Wildcats down with very little trouble, and it was not necessary for them to put into use their bag full of trick plays.

The Middlets will probably line up the same way they did last Thursday, with Thompson at quarter, Harris and Stewart at halves, and Beggs at full. Harris and Stewart were responsible for the big gains in the last game. Both gained ground on last end runs and crashing line smashes. Brooks will be seen at left end; Roland Reed, left tackle; Jack Alvord, left guard; Archie Neel, center; Ralph McCulloch, right guard; Sturges, right tackle, and H. Reed, right end.

Elmer Muff Out
Elmer Muff, who starred the season for the heavyweights at quarterback, will be unable to play in the coming game with Alhambra regulars here Friday. Muff severely wrenched his arm in the Citrus game, tearing and straining a tendon in his left elbow. Muff has been working out in scrimmage with the team, but will be unable to get into any real play. Coach Hayhurst believes his consistent ground-gainer will be able to star in the Covina game next week.

Carl Denney, who wrenched his hip last week, will be another regular missing from the lineup Friday. Although his injury is nothing serious, it hampers his playing ability.

Elliott to Call

Charles Lundie, backy tackle, who pulled off a forty-five-yard punt in the Monrovia game, may get a chance to get into Friday's play. The only objection to Lundie's kicking is his slowness in getting the ball away. Lundie is also a demon on throwing passes.

Boxing Notes

When Harry Lee raised the mitt of Jimmy McLarnin, fighting Irishman, after his four-round battle with Fidel La Barba, world's amateur bantam champ, yesterday arena last night, the decision did not please the 7,500 fans who packed the place. Many thought La Barba was entitled to a draw on account of his strong finish, while others believed he won by a close margin. Larry Murphy won a close decision over Jimmy Lamar in the semi-windup.

The bout between Charlie Regan, hailed as the amateur middle-weight champ of New York, and Ernie Owens, ended in the first round when Regan was knocked cold. After slugging the greater part of four rounds, Cliff Ramies handed Harry Lee a hard punch and he went to sleep. Billy Hogan won over Johnny Fiske. Joe Burns stopped Kid Martin in the second round, and Sailor Murratt won over Benny Palmer in the opener.

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 29.—Mickey Walker, world's welter-weight champion, was a hot favorite to defeat Jock Malone, St. Paul middleweight, in their twelve-round bout here tonight.

At Los Angeles—Jimmy McLarnin of Oakland defeated Fidel La Barba of Los Angeles, former national amateur flyweight champion.

At New York—Vic Hirsch, Detroit, substituting for Sailor Freeman, Philadelphia, held Paul Doyle, New York welterweight, to a draw in ten rounds.

At Denver—Joe Black, Denver, was awarded decision over Sid Sockind, Lincoln, four rounds.

Harry Manush Back In Glendale For Winter

Harry Manush, who managed the Glendale K. C. team last winter, and played outfield for Omaha last season when the club won the Western league pennant, has returned to Glendale and will put an independent ball team in the field again this winter. He is a brother of "Heinie" Manush, noted outfielder with the Detroit Tigers. Harry is established at 102 Maryland avenue, where he has entered the cleaning and pressing business.

Distance No Difference

It does not matter to "RED" GRANGE, Illinois wonder player, whether it is 45 or 90 yards to the goal line when he starts tearing down the field for a touchdown. An idea of how Grange looks to the opposition on these cross-country tours he makes may be gleaned from the photo.

BOWLING SCORES

Seven pins decided the match between the McLean Motor Sales team and the Red Feathers in a major league match last night at the Recreation alleys. The second and deciding game went to the auto men, 930-923, after they had captured the first, 1061-928. The Red Feathers came back strong in the final game, winning 1012-986. Dawson of the losers was high score man with 245.

Meek of the winners started out for a perfect score, getting strikes for the first five frames, but got a split in the sixth and finished with 234. The score:

Sarazen Holes In One By Night Searchlight

BRIAR CLIFF, N. Y., Oct. 29.—The one topic of conversation today about Briar Cliff lodge was concerned with Gene Sarazen, formerly national open golf champion, playing a hole-in-one under artificial light at night.

Nearly 10,000 persons saw the first night foursome. A 4,000-000 candlepower searchlight illuminated the course. Sarazen drove over the first hole of the four-course, 246 yards, to the green, where the ball took the cup. It's a par three hole.

Dynamite Babes Hold Lightweights to Tie

Coach Wolfe's 110-pounders showed their class last night against the Glendale second-string lightweights by holding their heavier opponents to an 0-0 score. The flyweights ran circles around the 130's, and were able to make yardage themselves on line bucks and end runs. Monte Kittinger crashed through the 130 line for several five-yard gains.

Virginia Cattle Raisers Face $1,500,000 Loss

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 29.—Cattle raisers in this state face a loss of $1,500,000, it was stated today by George W. Kerner, state commissioner of agriculture. Low prices and inactivity of buyers are blamed. In the fall and early winter 100,000 cattle usually are shipped from this state.

WALTER CAMP SAYS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—There are two contrasting teams working their way to the top of the football ranks today—Notre Dame, light, skillful, precise and very alert, and Lafayette, heavy, powerful, tenacious and rather ponderous.

Rockne's team is extremely deceptive and his opponents are never sure where the trust of the attack may come. McCracken's opponents may often be almost certain the smash will come through the middle of the line, and still be unable to check the onslaught. Lafayette is exceedingly good on defense and improving on offense. In Gehlhar they have a great line player, always shooting forward and likely to go right over a line as well through it.

Notre Dame has in Stuhldreher a great general of infinite capacity to direct his alert forces. Lafayette has in Berry a star end who shifts easily through interference and breaks up plays.

These Garrison finishes which Yale is starting this year are thrilling and effective, but the big Blue team may some day wait too long before starting one and come a cropper. However, they are coming fast at New Haven and are past those awful moments when in three separate contests they came near defeat, and that resurging of the old bulldog spirit is a mighty good sign. Cottle showed himself again a great asset in emergencies.

That defeat by Dartmouth will do Harvard a lot of good for her future contests, for her team showed strong defense for the most part and has probably learned its lesson that one moment of careless play with a man like Hall in the opposing lineup may spell disaster as it did Saturday when Hall got away for a 20 yard run which led up to the lone touchdown which defeated them.

Stagg had a bump from Dr. Wilce's Ohio State team Saturday that will make the old man do some studying. But Chicago gained enough ground to win two games had the efforts been directly productive. They just could not get over and that seems to be the characteristic of a dozen of the first grade teams this year.

Just found a new star in Friedman Wisconsin badly which taken in connection with the good work of Rockwell and Steger is beginning to dissipate the gloom left by that terrible beating at the hands of "Red" Grange and Illinois.

'MARTY KRUG' DAY AT PARK SUNDAY

Pilot of Angels Will Play Second Base for Sox Against Gilmores

After turning out to pay homage last Sunday to Earl McNeely, star outfielder of the Washington Senators, and hero of the world series, who played with the Glendale White Sox against the Hollywood Merchants, local baseball fans will gather at the park on San Fernando road next Sunday to honor Marty Krug, pilot of the Los Angeles Angels, a Glendalean, who will play second base for the pale hose crew.

In addition to being "Marty Krug" day it will be the official opening of the Southern California Winter league schedule, with the Gilmore Oilers as opponents of the White Sox. The last time the Oilers played against the Sox was last Sunday, they battled with the White Sox for ten innings, and then the game was called on account of darkness, tied, seven-all.

"Ferdie" Schupp, who hurled for the New York Giants, will be on the mound for the Oilers. Tub Spencer, Angel player, will also be in the lineup. Several other Coast league stars will be wearing Gilmore uniforms that day, and the entire team will be supported by a large crowd of loyal rooters.

Penner to Pitch
On the mound for the locals will be Ken Penner, pitching ace of the Vernon Tigers, who hurled the pale hose crew to victory last Sunday, when he allowed the movieland folks only three hits. Penner has been signed by Frank Kerwin, owner of the White Sox, for the winter season, along with his oldtime battery mate, Denny Murphy.

"Chicken" Hawks will be back at first base. Marty Krug will cover second. Bill Shields will play third. Ray French, big leaguer, will cavort around the shortstop position. The outfield will be in the hands of Ping Bodie, the "Frisco fencebuster," Charlie Dorman, Emerson, Tellez and Bonelly. Just who will be drawn has not been announced.

Marty Krug, whose home is in Glendale, drew the eyes of the baseball world to Los Angeles when he brought the Angels from cellar position to the front rank in about six weeks and would have led his team to higher honors had the Portland Beavers played ball in the last week instead of taking the field, going through the motions and letting Seattle grab all the glory.

FOOTBALL QUESTION BOX

If you have some question to ask about football—If you want a rule interpreted—If you want to know anything about play—Write Lawrence Perry, for fifteen years an authority on the game as writer and official. If you want a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Otherwise your question will be answered in this column.

ADDRESS: Lawrence Perry, Special Football Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, 814 World Building, New York.

QUESTION—Much talk is heard of the elimination by rule of the screen pass play. Just how has this been effected?

ANSWER—By placing it in the referee's power to take the penalty that relates to violation of the rule against interference with the efforts of the defending side to reach a thrown ball with a view to interception.

QUESTION—The rules seem to leave much more to the judgment of the referee than ever before. Is this so?

ANSWER—It is so. The referee has increased responsibilities in the way of judgment for the first time in the history of the game. He is now sole judge as to the legality of incidents or actions coming up on the field not specifically covered by the rules.

QUESTION—How many times may a team take time out without a penalty in the course of a game? What is the penalty for excess? In case of excess is there any avenue of escape from penalty?

ANSWER—Four times in each half. The penalty for excess is five yards. The five-yard penalty may be avoided in case of exceeding the limit of time out by requesting the player for whom time is taken out from the game.

QUESTION—An eligible player receives a forward pass. When tackled he fumbles the ball which flies forward. A member of his own team receives it. Now this is practically a second forward pass in one play. May the ball thus received be retained?

ANSWER—Yes. To avoid ruction, however, the referee should be quite sure the fumble was not intentional.

QUESTION—Suppose a team commits a foul calling for penalty of distance so great as to take the ball over its goal line. What happens?

ANSWER—The ball shall be down on the one-yard line.

QUESTION—In a play the field judge signals a foul against Team A while at the same time the umpire calls a foul against Team B. What happens?

ANSWER—The ball comes back to the point where it was put in play and is again, with no change in the number of down or distance to be gained for first down.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Annually at this time of the year Notre Dame presents the best offensive and defensive football eleven that the writer ever has seen. Later, due probably to the cumulative effort of long migrations, the team seems to slump and usually experiences defeat. But, from the middle until the latter part of October the South Bend outfit in all that pertains to the application of power, the interposition of deceit, mental alertness and physical dexterity, is quite in a class by itself.

And on defensive no eleven in whatever section of the country has so uncanny an ability to place obstacles in the path of the best conceived assaults.

All that has been said above may be said of this year's Notre Dame eleven. Against Princeton on Saturday the eleven had but one material fault, fumbling. In detailed knowledge of every point of football, in poise and confidence, Notre Dame this fall, as in past recent years, compares to most college elevens as the New York Giants compare to the Boston Braves!

Of course, the Hoosiers have splendid material. Any team blessed with Notre Dame tackles and ends and a backfield, with Layden, Stuhldreher, Miller and Crowley, would make any coach who knows his business at all well, look good.

But Knute Rockne is so gifted an organizer, so brilliant in inducting what he wishes to teach, so magnetic in personality, that far from being made by his men, it is the other way about. Knute, in short, makes every man who comes under him a better man than he otherwise would have been.

His position is an enviable one. In many universities, in Princeton, for instance, the coaches come from more than a few faculty offices. It is held at those places that the students are in college essentially to study and there seems to be a growing faculty sentiment that football is an ex-crescence that must be removed, at least by the slow and insidious application of some deadly pedagogical acid. The value of all this is later to be determined.

In Notre Dame it is also the idea that students are there to study. And study they do. But it is also recognized that football is a valuable adjunct to an education, that the spirit of the gridiron sport is a wholesome influence in the university atmosphere. So when the players go abroad priests go with them and hear their lessons. Thus, class standing is maintained. But football is a grunting and snorting and consuming traveling is likely to tell upon the freshness and endurance of young athletes. All of which seems to be the single flaw in the Notre Dame system.

Rockne can call his men together whenever he presses a button and they say he presses it at the noon hour as well as in the afternoon, and through-out the collegial year they are under his supervising thumb. Princeton, nor any other eleven that limits preliminary season practice to a few days before the opening of college, can hope to cope with Notre Dame at this season of the year, whatever it might do in late November.

It was perhaps in realization of this that Princeton has declined to make a new two-year contract with Notre Dame, and why Dartmouth's reported ambition for an October game will not be met. Princeton would like to match her experience with Notre Dame, and Knute Rockne is highly esteemed as a man and as a coach. But, under present conditions at Princeton, the demands of these hard October games cannot be met.

Princeton showed a very discerning defense against the elusive and powerful Notre Dame offense, often hurrying the play so that the Indiana team fumbled and in other ways fell down at crucial moments. The sheer ability of the Notre Dame backfield, rather than lack of defensive judgment by the Princeton team paved the way for the two scores that were made. On the attack Princeton showed nothing but future promise. When geared up the eleven may have a hard drive and a certain ruthlessness. The team tried only two forward passes, one successfully, and the rest of the time contented itself with trying to slant off tackle or punch the center.

Notre Dame showed nothing new, except an occasional extra step in the shift. Her ends shifted in or out when the backs shifted, and sometimes this was the key to the play and at others not. The team does more holding than it should and on offense there is a skillful use of hands which the officials find it difficult to catch. And in all, it is an eleven that knows its way about every minute of the game.

Lack of Tankers Holds Up Oil Shipments Here

SAN PEDRO, Oct. 29.—Lack of tankers has caused a slump in the exportation of refined oil from the local port the last ten days. Exporters are being held up awaiting ships. The Shell company sent a cargo of kerosene to Shanghai, the supply of that city having been seized by military forces who are prepared to burn the town if necessary, it is said. Fuel oil for Iquique, will keep residents of Chile warm, according to the Union Oil company's export office here.

Vote YES on Amendment Number ONE

TAX MOTOR BUSES

As you do all other Public Utilities

This levies a state tax of 4 per cent on the gross earnings of Motor Carriers. They will continue to pay the Gasoline Tax.

Why this Amendment is Necessary
This amendment does not set up any new system of taxation. It merely brings the motor carriers within the system established fourteen years ago. The people in 1910 voted to divide state from county and municipal taxation—the state taxing the gross earnings of public utilities, while the taxes on other property are left to counties and municipalities. But there were no motor stages in 1910, and so they were not included in the list of public utilities then enumerated—steam and electric railroads, banks, express companies, and gas and electric companies. So it is an accident of legislation that makes this amendment necessary now.

Who Uses the Highways?
There are a million and a quarter automobiles in California. They use the highways—for the greater part—for pleasure. There are 1660 motor stages in California. They serve 736 towns in California that have no other common means of transportation. Last year they carried 29,000,000 passengers. These 29,000,000 passengers of the auto stages benefited by their use of the highways in the fares they paid that are lower than rail fares. These fares are regulated by the Railroad Commission.

A Great Public Utility
The motor stages are a public utility, carrying passengers, freight, express and mail, and extending the use of the highways to all the people of the state for commerce as well as for pleasure. Declaring that commercial, agricultural and social benefits have trailed the auto stage, the California Railroad Commission says in its annual report:

The wonderful growth of automotive transportation in the common carrier field entitles it to a rank among the major utilities of the state.

Why Motor Carriers Advocate this Amendment
The motor carriers are willing to pay their full share of taxation. But they want to stabilize their industry, and they cannot as long as their taxes are uncertain. A large portion of the state is dependent upon the motor carriers. This demand is increasing. The motor carriers cannot render this public service economically unless they can finance their business economically, and they cannot do that as long as their taxes are uncertain.

Remember—the public utility acts as the tax collector for the State. This tax is paid by the people who use the highway transportation. All the motor carriers are asking is that they have the same certainty in taxation the other public utilities now have.

When you vote YES on Amendment Number One you will bring within the taxation system that has been in operation for four-teen years the common carriers that make the highways useful for all the people of the state.

He was released on $10,000 bail. Capt. John O'Hagen, skipper of the Guilla, and the thirteen members of the crew also were charged with conspiracy.

REFORESTING FOOTHILLS C.C. AIM

Commerce Board to Promote Work; Glendale Radio
Program Planned

A special Chamber of Commerce committee will take up and promote the work of reforesting the foothills surrounding Glendale as a result of action taken at the executive forestry meeting of the chamber last night. A committee of five to handle the matter of reforestation locally, and to take up the campaign to save shade trees within the city will be named by the executive committee of the board within the next few days. The board also passed a resolution endorsing the work of the American Reforestation association.

Albert Reber, representative of the American Reforestation association, and widely known for his experting of explaining the association's aims and objects. Subscriptions for benefit of work in reforestation are asked. All subscriptions may be left at the Chamber of Commerce offices, 150 South Brand boulevard.

Radio Program
The board also discussed plans for Glendale night on the radio. Through the courtesy of the Los Angeles Examiner a Glendale program will be broadcast over KFI Tuesday night, December 9. The committee arranging the program consists of Gould Warren, chairman; R. Ernest Tucker, J. Arthur Myers. There will be a fifteen minute talk on Glendale with the rest of the program hour devoted to musical and entertainment numbers.

By a vote of the board it was decided that Glendale Chamber of Commerce should withdraw from the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Fernando valley. The secretary and L. T. Rowley, representative of the local chamber, on that body, were directed to inform the Associated Chambers, Glendale's reasons for severing active connection. The fact that in recent years a large part of the time and effort of the Associated Chambers has been taken up with problems of the west end of the valley which in no way affect Glendale, was given as the main reason for the action. Glendale will continue to cooperate with the body in matters affecting this section.

Other Business
Other business taken up was the decision to appoint tellers for the forthcoming election to be held on Tuesday, November 4; adoption of the "Principles of Business Conduct," a widely used code of business ethics recommended by the United States Chamber of Commerce; and the passage of a resolution urging the board of county supervisors to appropriate sufficient funds to confine the flood waters in the Los Angeles river from Los Feliz to Glendale boulevard so that Hyperion boulevard may be completed.

Carpenters' Union Will Give Program Friday
Plans have been perfected for the entertainment of the largest gathering of union carpenters, local 563, ever held in the city next Friday night in the hall at 108 North Brand boulevard, beginning at 8 o'clock for members of local union. Entertaining features are promised, including high class "stunt" tricks by a leading actor. There will be music and speakers and refreshments will be served.

It is announced that this meeting is not a political meeting. Every member of the local union will be expected. L. L. Byers, recording secretary of the local, announced that the organization has gone on record as being 100 per cent for the civic center bond project.

Women's Label Union Organize Sewing Club
Members of the Women's Label league met at the home of Mrs. J. D. Hall, 134 North Belmont street, yesterday and organized a sewing club. The afternoon was spent in sewing for welfare work. Refreshments were served. Next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. H. H. Black, chairman, at 230 South Central avenue, early in November. Meetings are held twice a month.

Rehearsals for 'Rose Maiden' Satisfactory
J. A. Arthur Myers, conductor of the Glendale Symphony orchestra and leader of the Glendale Choral club, reported a satisfactory rehearsal last night of the orchestra and soloists for "The Rose Maiden." Dress rehearsal will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Glendale Intermediate school.

High School Teachers To Direct Music Club
Miss Zula M. Zeigler, well-known member of the music faculty of the Glendale Union high school, will be one of the directors of the junior department of the Glendale Music club. The other director will be Mrs. Perry Rogers, also of the high school faculty.

Pacific Coast States Welcome Big Rainfall

temperature caused the snow to turn to rain. The skies cleared during the day, but the weather bureau said occasional showers could be expected this afternoon and tomorrow, with probably clear and warmer Thursday.

Storm warnings have been changed to southwest and are being continued from Point Arena northward to Tatoosh island.

Portland Continues to Be Center of Coastwise Storm
PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 29.—Portland continued today to be the center of a coastwise storm which last night swept over Oregon and Washington and caused damage in several localities.

North Head weather bureau station, off the mouth of the Columbia, reported a wind of seven miles an hour early today which whipped the bar and sea into mountainous waves. Few vessels crossed out and indications were that shipping would be considerably delayed a day or more until the storm subsided. High winds howled through Portland all night and showed no signs of abating this morning. A driving rain continued, the fall being recorded at .33 of an inch during the past twenty-four hours.

Homes were damaged in Tillamook, Ore., by an electrical storm. At Roseburg a power line went out. The North Umpqua river is reported steadily rising and other small streams are swollen.

Eastern Oregon reported that the rain had greatly benefited winter wheat. A light snow fell at Klamath Falls yesterday afternoon, following rainfall of 1.42 inches during the day.

Contracts Submitted In Sewer System Work

Contractors to whom the Glendale City Council yesterday awarded the work of building the $1,600,000 Glendale sewer system, signed their contracts and placed bonds totaling the full cost of the work, reported Virgil B. Stone, city manager. The council will examine the bonds tomorrow morning and approve them if satisfactory, he stated, and Mayor Spencer Robinson will sign the contracts for the city and work will start. Charles and George K. Thompson were awarded the contracts for Sections 1 and 2 (the north and south sections), together with the by-pass or temporary south end connection, while C. E. Green was awarded the contract for Section 2 (the middle section). Both firms are Los Angeles contractors.

NEW YORK CLOSING

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Stock prices were generally inclined to lower price levels in a dull and featureless market today. Selling pressure was directed against the industrial and specialty stocks, and in the absence of buying power prices showed slight losses from yesterday's closing levels, but the movement was by no means uniform, since a number of prominent stocks like American Tobacco, Mallinson Silk, Montgomery-Ward, etc., were strong in the move against the general trend of the market and to record new high prices for the current movement.

The industrial market leaders exhibited the same signs of nervousness which were in evidence on Monday and Tuesday, and which, according to economic and business experts, is also apparent in industry and business. The Iron Age said today that the election continues to influence the steel market, holding back some orders which might otherwise be placed this week. This is, of course, regardless of the result of the balloting on Tuesday.

The underlying strength of the stock market was seen in the easy absorption of U. S. Steel, American Can and others of the high priced industrial which were thrown on the market in the first hour, and in the prompt rally in prices which followed the clearing away of the fortnight accumulation of selling orders. Efforts of the bear party to cause a general unsettlement of prices were unsuccessful, and in the third and fourth hours the market approached the condition of a stalemate, with neither side able to make much of an impression on prices.

The quick rise of American Tobacco to 16 1/2, up five points from the previous close, was due to the action of the directors in placing the stock on a 14 per cent dividend basis preparatory to splitting up the stock on a 2 for 1 ratio next month. Mallinson silk's advance to a new high on the move at 27 reflected not only the recent improvement in the financial position of the company, but also the current decline in the market for raw silk, of which Mallinson is a heavy buyer.

LEAGUE FORMS TO FIGHT BOND ISSUE

Taxpayers' Protective Body
Organizes to Oppose Move
For Civic Center

Unorganized opposition to the civic center bond issue to be voted next Tuesday crystallized into an active organization at a meeting of taxpayers, called for the purpose, last night. George H. Seal was elected president and A. W. Hewitt, secretary and the name Taxpayers' Protective league adopted as a name. Membership roll signed last night carries the names of many well known citizens and is open to all those who are opposed to the proposed civic center and who will lend their effort to defeat the measure.

A fund was raised for literature and advertising and every member volunteered his personal services when needed.

A committee consisting of W. B. McLaughlin, John Young, C. A. Bowles, Floyd Reed, John F. Chandler, J. W. McGillis, R. W. Meeker, J. C. Reilly, J. L. Macomber, J. K. Todd, J. S. Hendrix, Gov. D. J. Glendale will again this year bid for honors in the Pasadena Rose tournament. According to a letter from the Rose Tournament association the general theme this year will be "Fifty years from now," and floats are supposed to depict some phase of life in the future.

Western Rangers Plan Big Hallowe'en Party

Members of Acoma council, Western Rangers, composed of Glendale boys between the ages of 11 and 16 years, will take part in the Halloween celebration of Ranger councils in and around Los Angeles Friday night.

A side show in which each council will enter an exhibit will be one of the features. Everyone is invited to attend the celebration which will take place at the Western Ranger clubhouse, 4900 Pasadena avenue. No admission is to be charged. That the show will be worth seeing is vouched for by the "Crier Chief," the official publication issued from Los Angeles headquarters by the boys. Charles Perlee is in charge of the Glendale council. Meetings are held every Monday night at 7:30 o'clock at the Wilson Intermediate school. All boys of eligible age are invited to join.
